Employment and Education

Boot Camp

In coordination with CASA for Children of Mercer and Burlington Counties, the Princeton University Class of 1997 will host a program for youth in out-of-home placements, as part of their 20TH Reunion Community Service Project.

The program will be focused on the importance of higher education and developing employment skills. It offers something for all adolescents as they head towards adulthood.

Education Workshop

♦ An opportunity for adolescents to think about their goals and a discussion of what skills adolescents need to develop to achieve their goals.
♦ Why does earning a degree matter? Why does education matter beyond just a degree?
♦ How to make yourself competitive in the college application process?
♦ How to afford college?

Employment Workshop

♦ What are soft skills and how do they help you get a job?
♦ How to prepare for an interview including selecting proper attire.
♦ Strategies for displaying a positive attitude and enthusiasm during an interview.
♦ Tips for good communication skills when applying for jobs and interviewing.

The program also includes the opportunity to interact with and ask questions of Class of 1997 alumni representing a variety of different careers.

Participants will also take a campus tour and lunch will be provided
